Calibration Options

Each Bio-Pump includes a flow indicator for secondary calibration. Simply place the flow indicator on the pump, enter calibration mode and adjust the flow rate until the indicator ball lines up with the black 15 LPM line. That's it!

For primary calibration, Zefon offers both a manual and electronic soap bubble meter. These devices are designed to calibrate the pump or to periodically calibrate your flow indicator. Shown above is the Bio-Pump connected to a mini-BUCK IAQ calibrator, the only electronic primary calibration device specifically designed for use on pumps such as the Zefon Bio-Pump.
